

Babiana angustifolia

COMMON NAME

baboon-flower

SYNONYMS

Also known as Babiana stricta var. angustifolia (Sweet) Baker (see <http://www.theplantlist.org/tpl/record/kew-326789>). In NZ this species has, incorrectly, been called B. stricta in the past but that is a separate species.

FAMILY

Iridaceae

AUTHORITY

Babiana angustifolia Sweet

FLORA CATEGORY

Vascular – Exotic

STRUCTURAL CLASS

Herbs - Monocots

CONSERVATION STATUS

Not applicable

FLOWER COLOURS

Violet/Purple

YEAR NATURALISED

1972

ORIGIN

South Africa

ETYMOLOGY

babiana: From the Dutch word babiener 'baboon', which is said to eat the bulbs angustifolia: From the Latin angustus 'narrow, constricted' and folius 'leaf', meaning narrow-leaved

MORE INFORMATION

<https://www.nzpcn.org.nz/flora/species/babiana-angustifolia/>

Rings beach, Kuaotunu, Sept. Photographer: John Smith-Dodsworth, Licence: CC BY-NC.

Rings beach, Kuaotunu, Sept. Photographer: John Smith-Dodsworth, Licence: CC BY-NC.